

Explaining an unfamiliar design to an audience

857,001 undergraduate students, 1987– present.

135,860 enrolled in engineering

71,277 received a bachelor's degree in engineering.

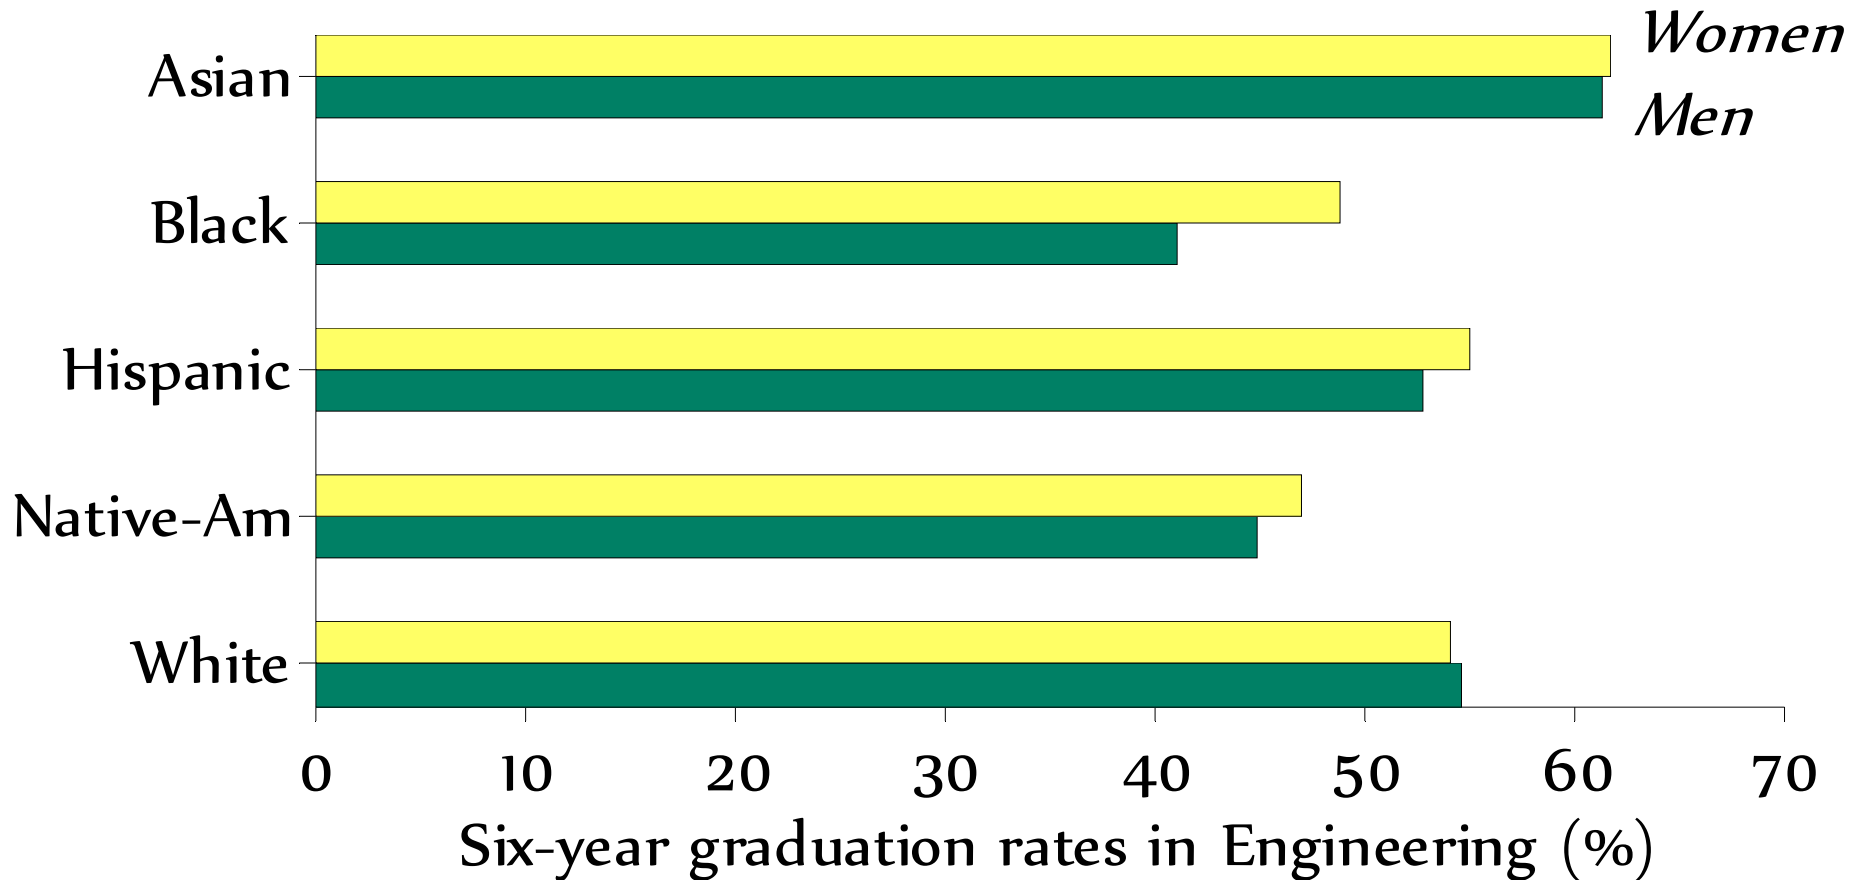

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

	Number matriculating in ENGR			% Grad in 6 years in ENGR
Race/ethnicity	Women	Men	Total	Women	Men
Asian	1001	3927	4928	62 %	61 %
Black	3957	6624	10581	49 %	41 %
Hispanic	390	1607	1997	55 %	53 %
Native-Am	68	258	326	47 %	45 %
White	9997	45291	55288	54 %	55 %

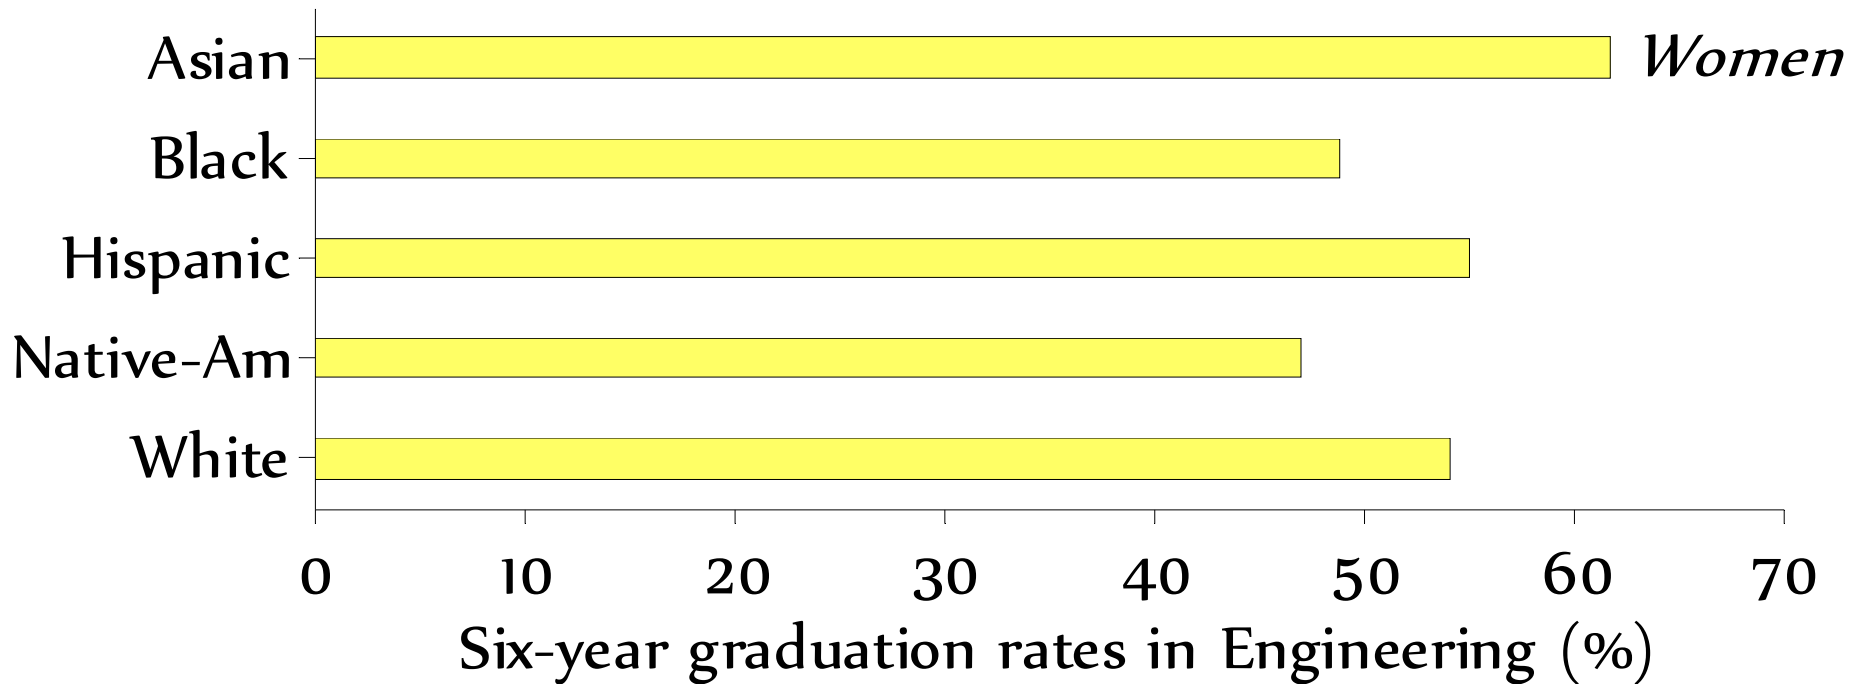

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

	Number matriculating in ENGR			% Grad in 6 years in ENGR
Race/ethnicity	Women	Men	Total	Women	Men
Asian	1001	3927	4928	62 %	61 %
Black	3957	6624	10581	49 %	41 %
Hispanic	390	1607	1997	55 %	53 %
Native-Am	68	258	326	47 %	45 %
White	9997	45291	55288	54 %	55 %

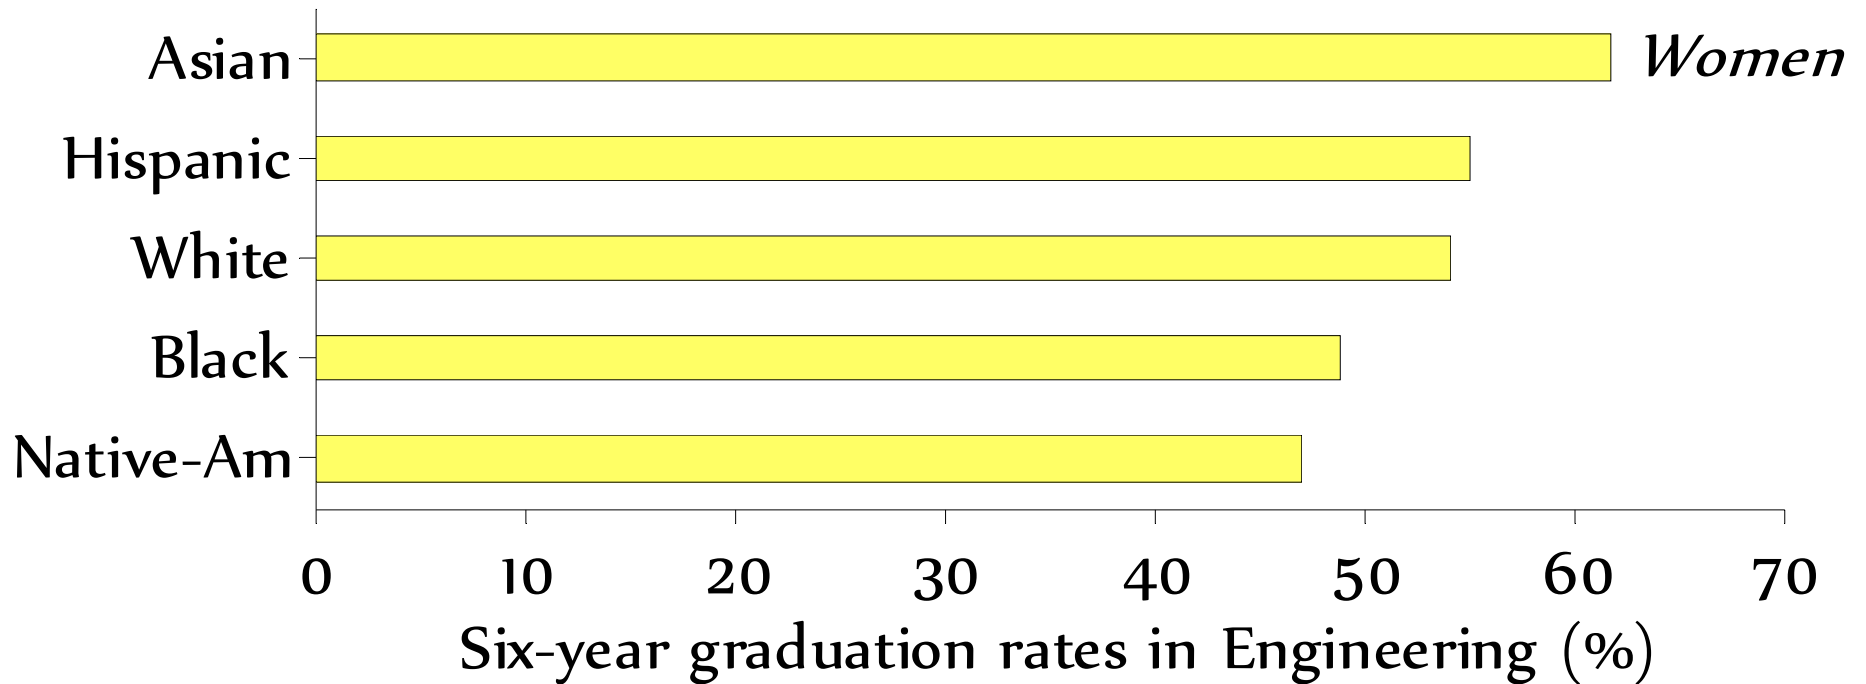

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

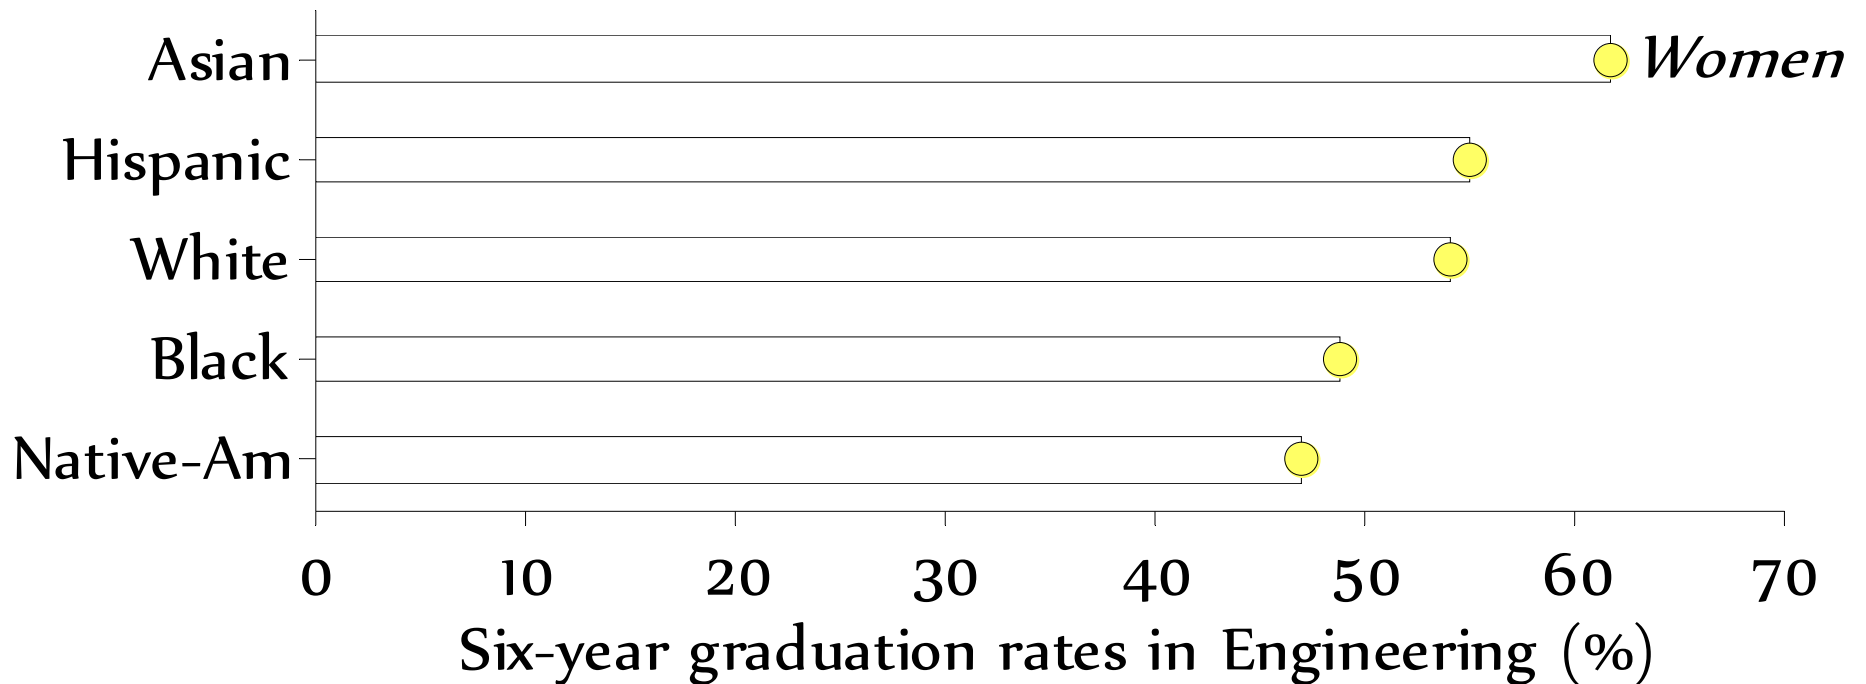

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

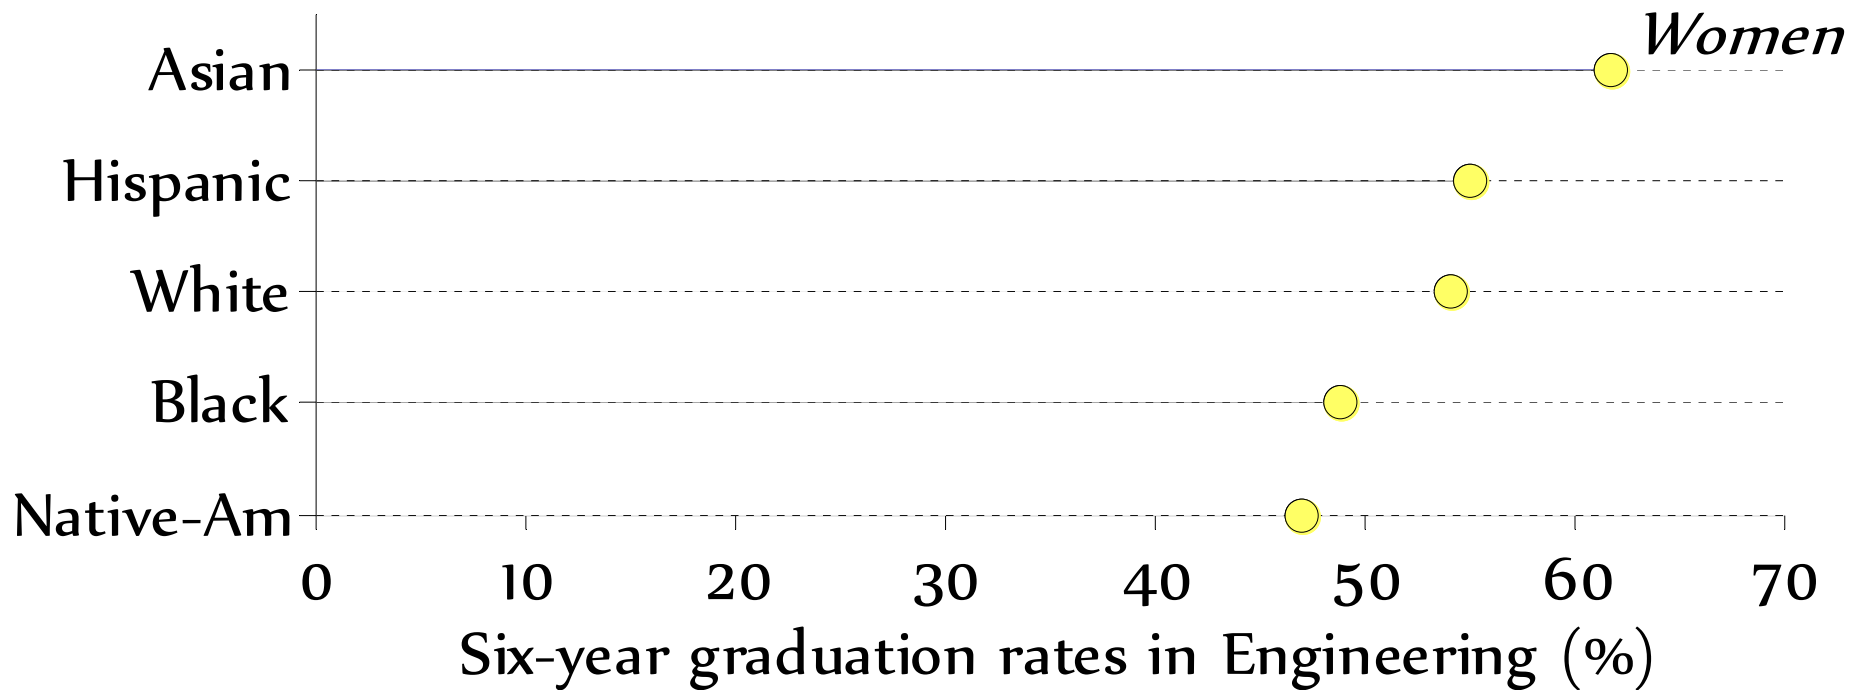

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

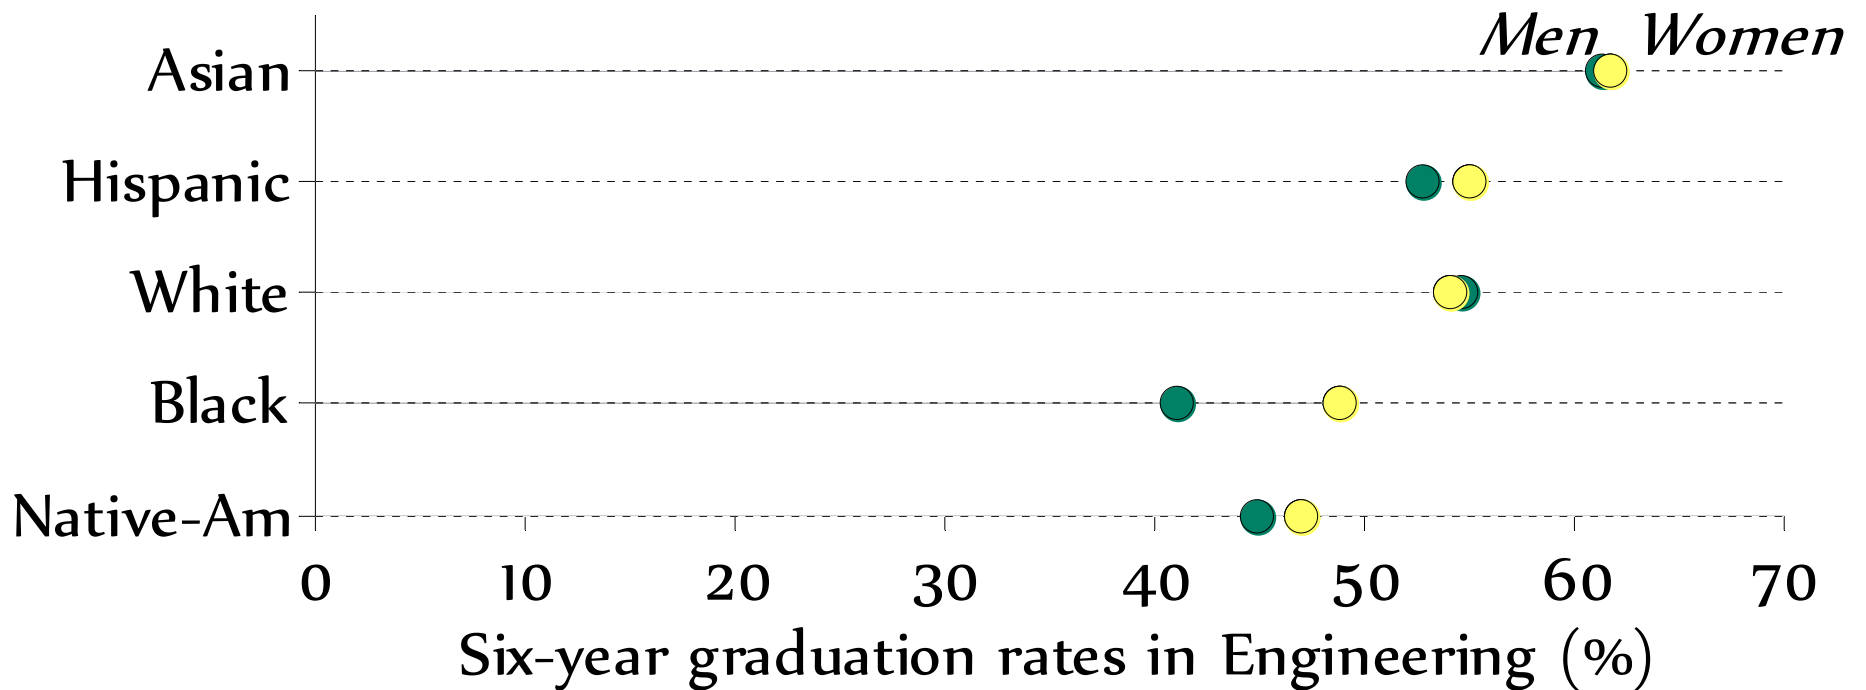

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

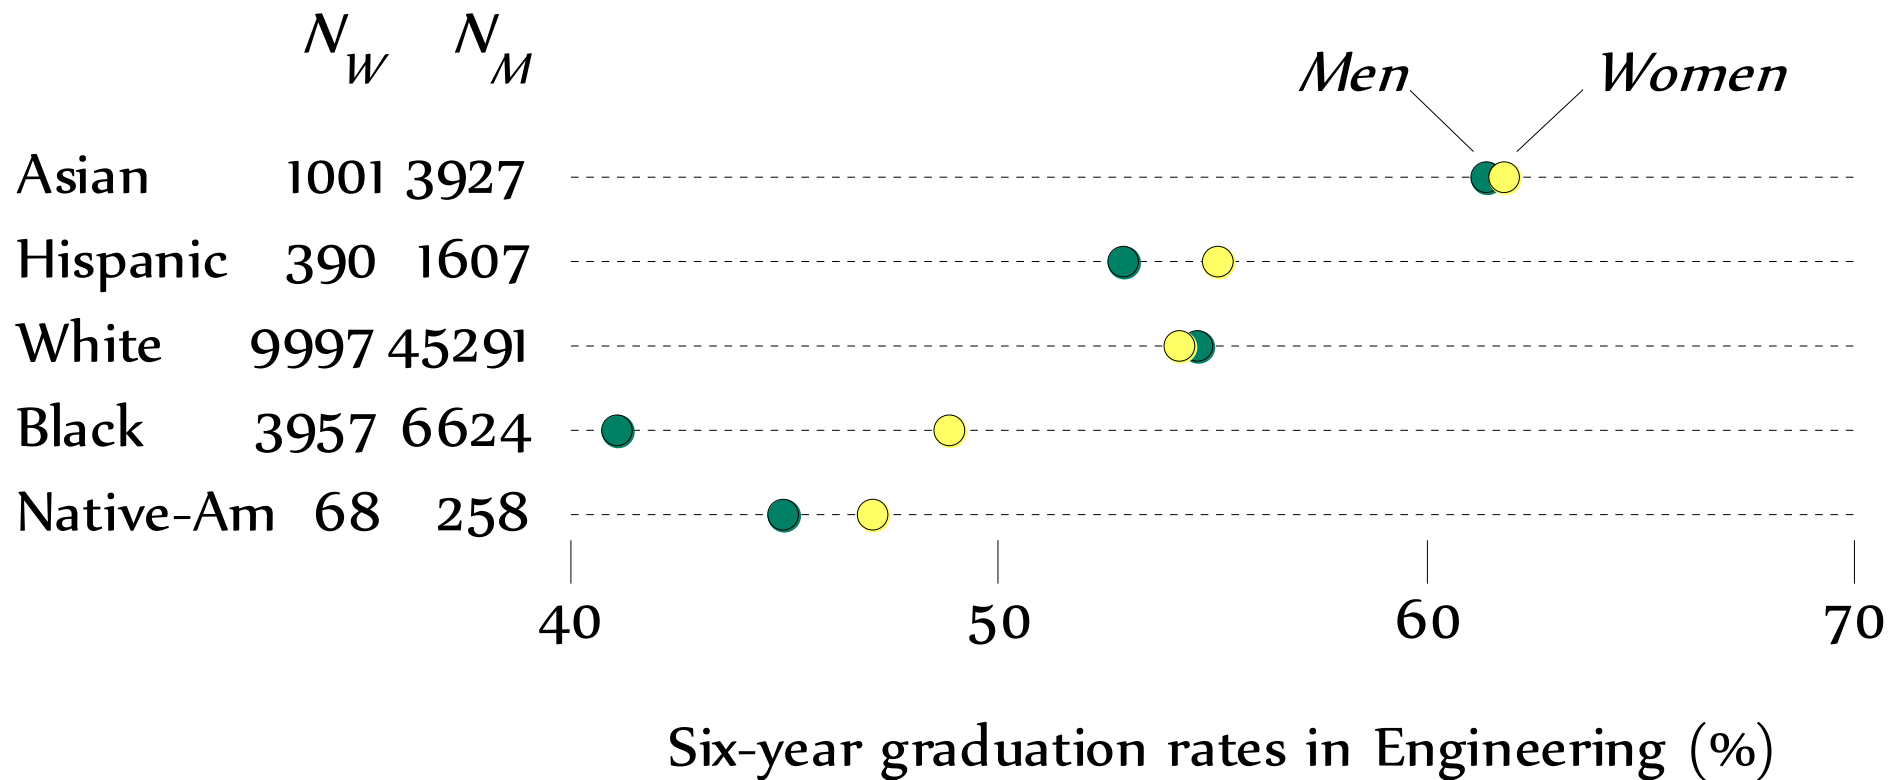

For Engineering matriculants, 6-year graduation rates in Engineering are generally higher for women than for men.

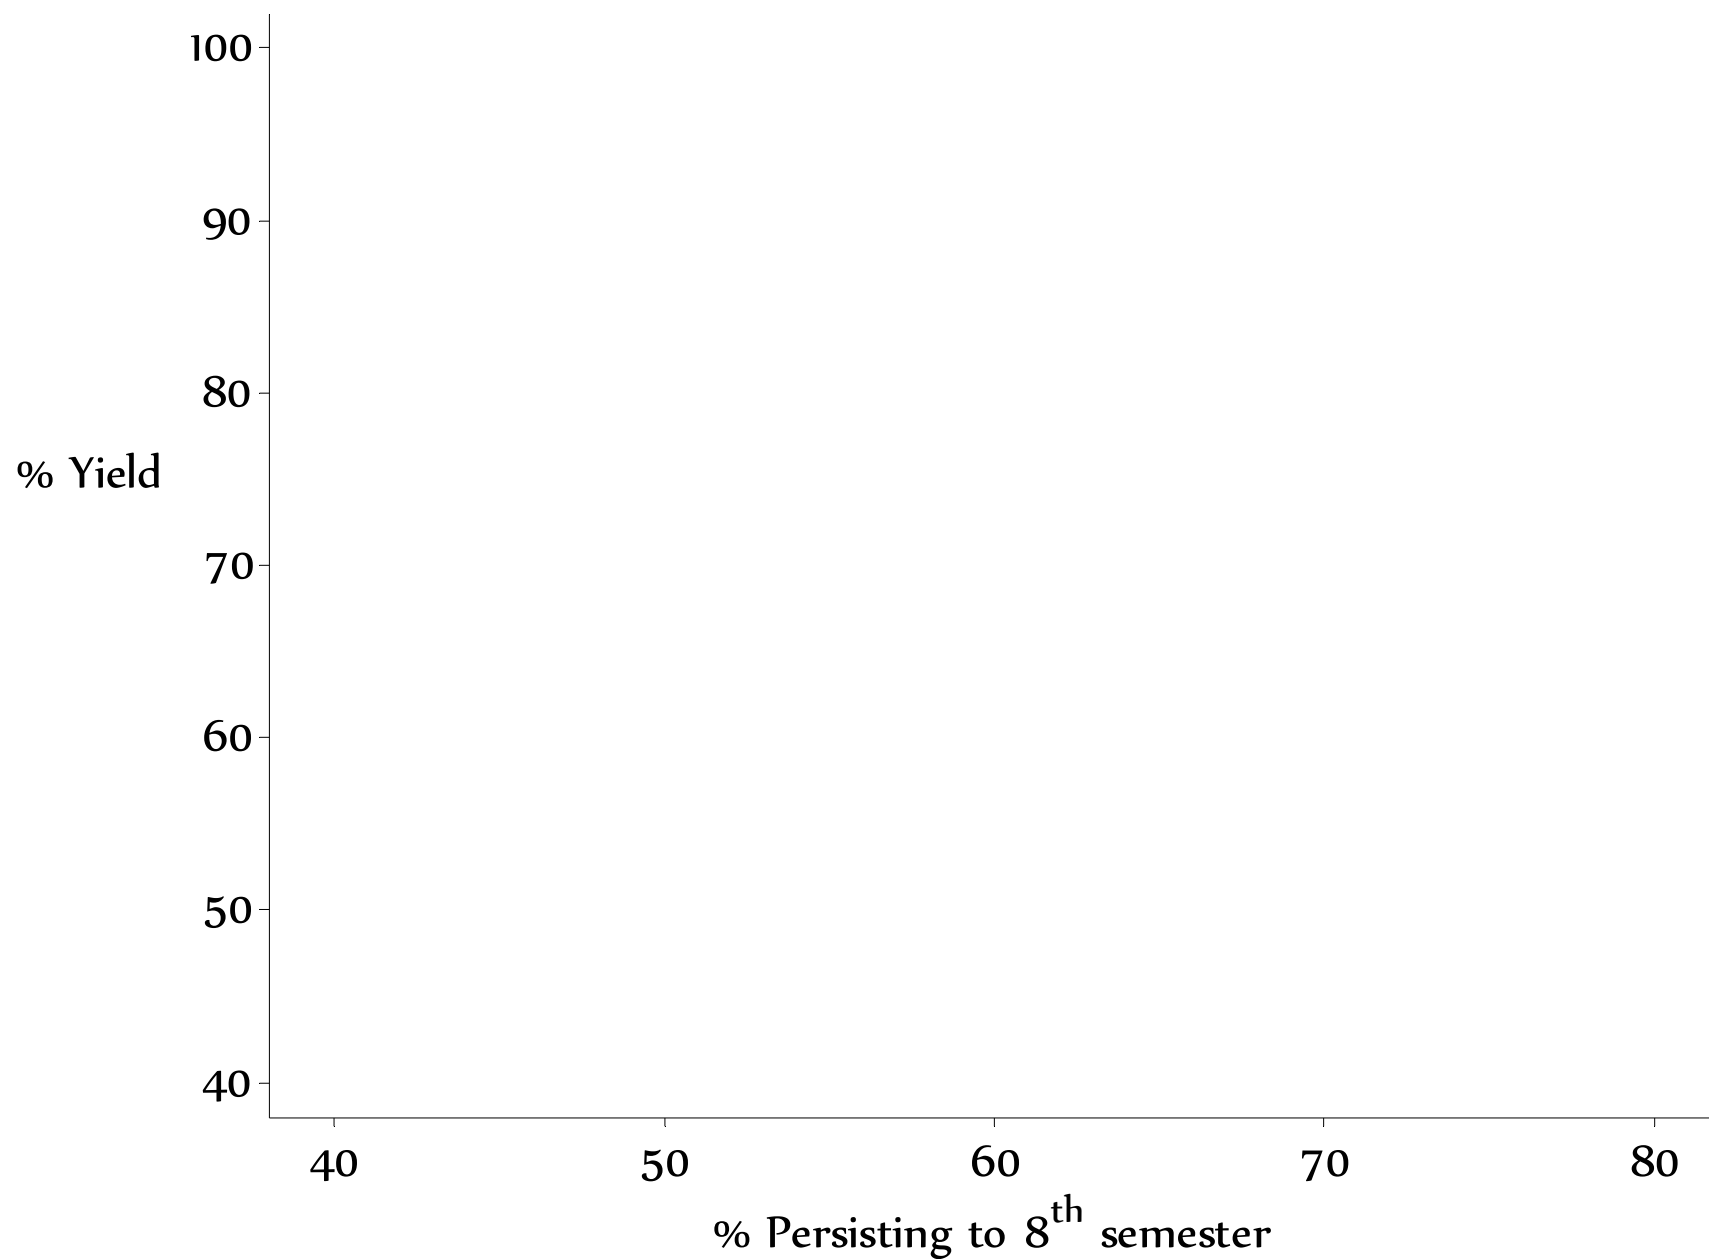

This display contains all the information in the original table.

All Engineering Matriculants

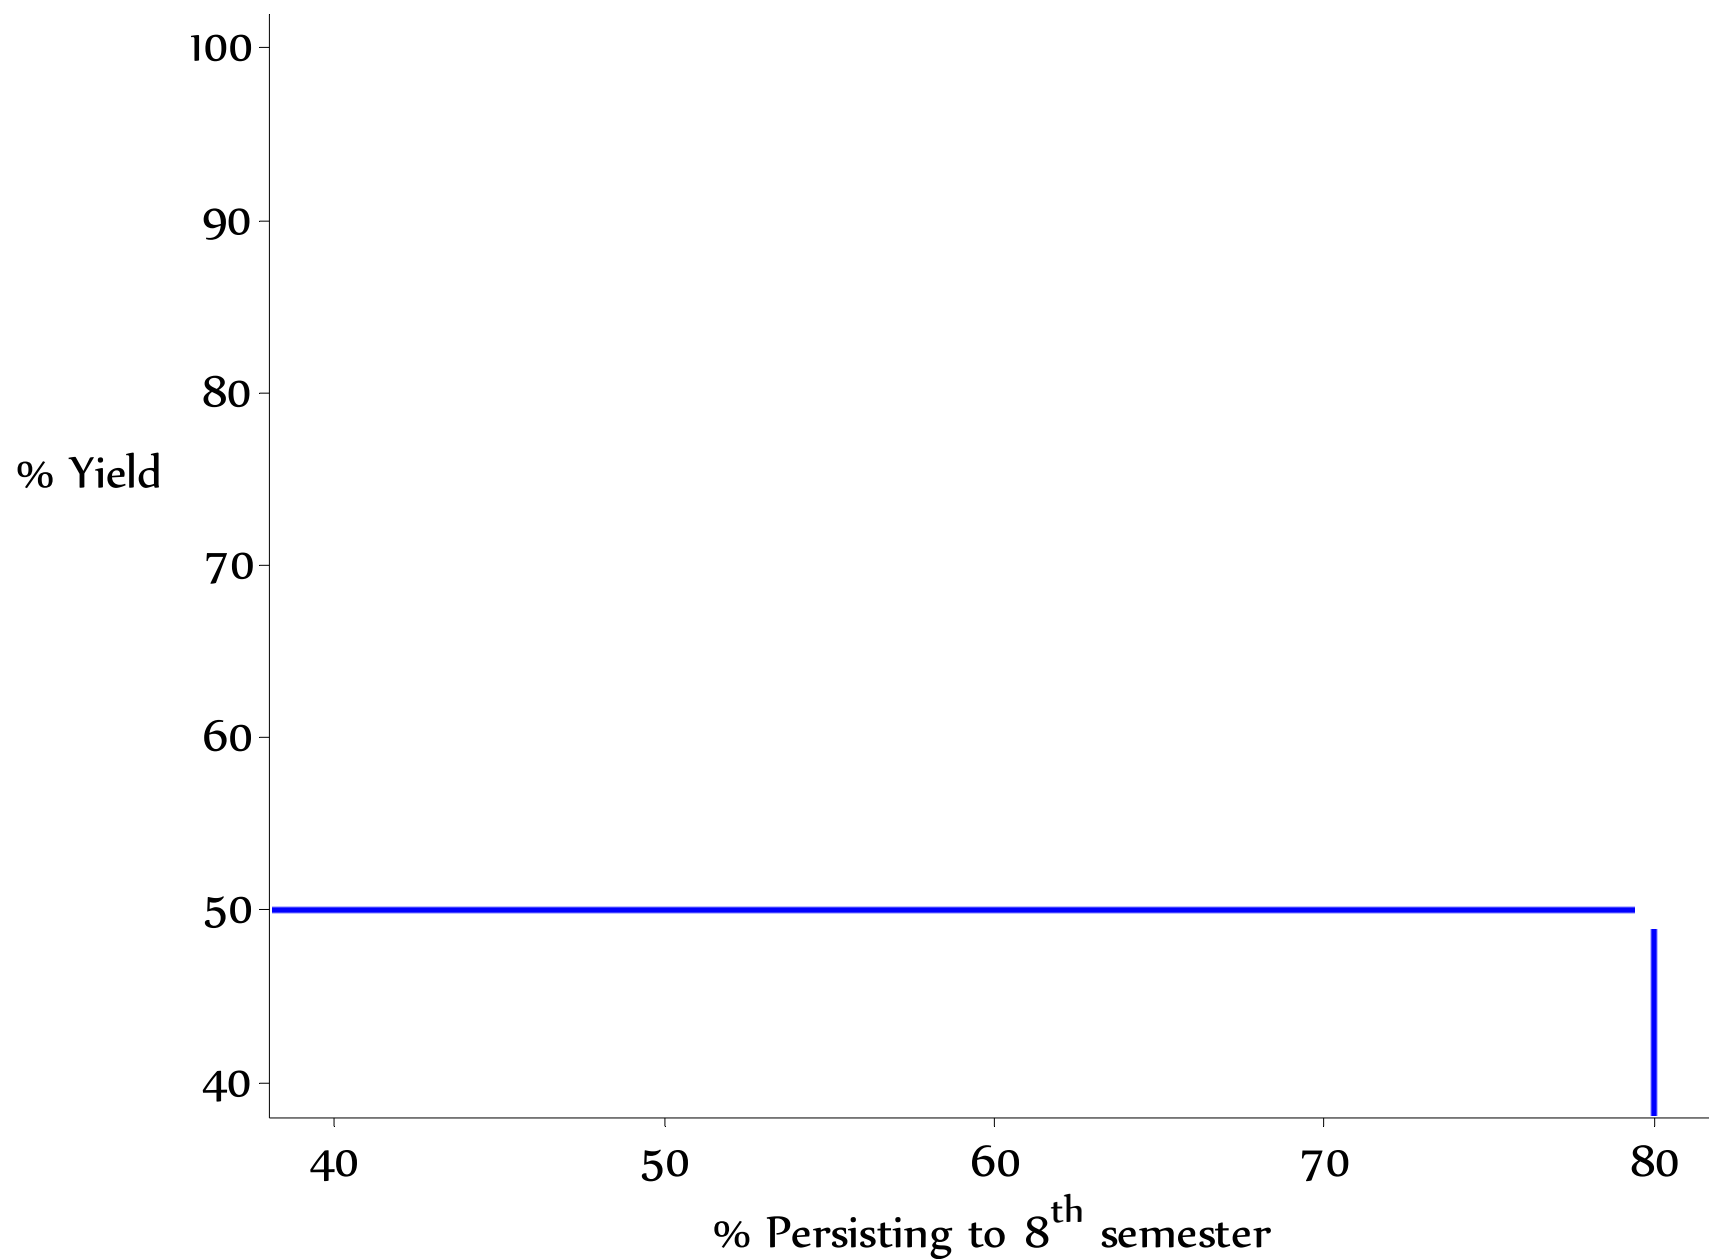

“Success” is a complex story.

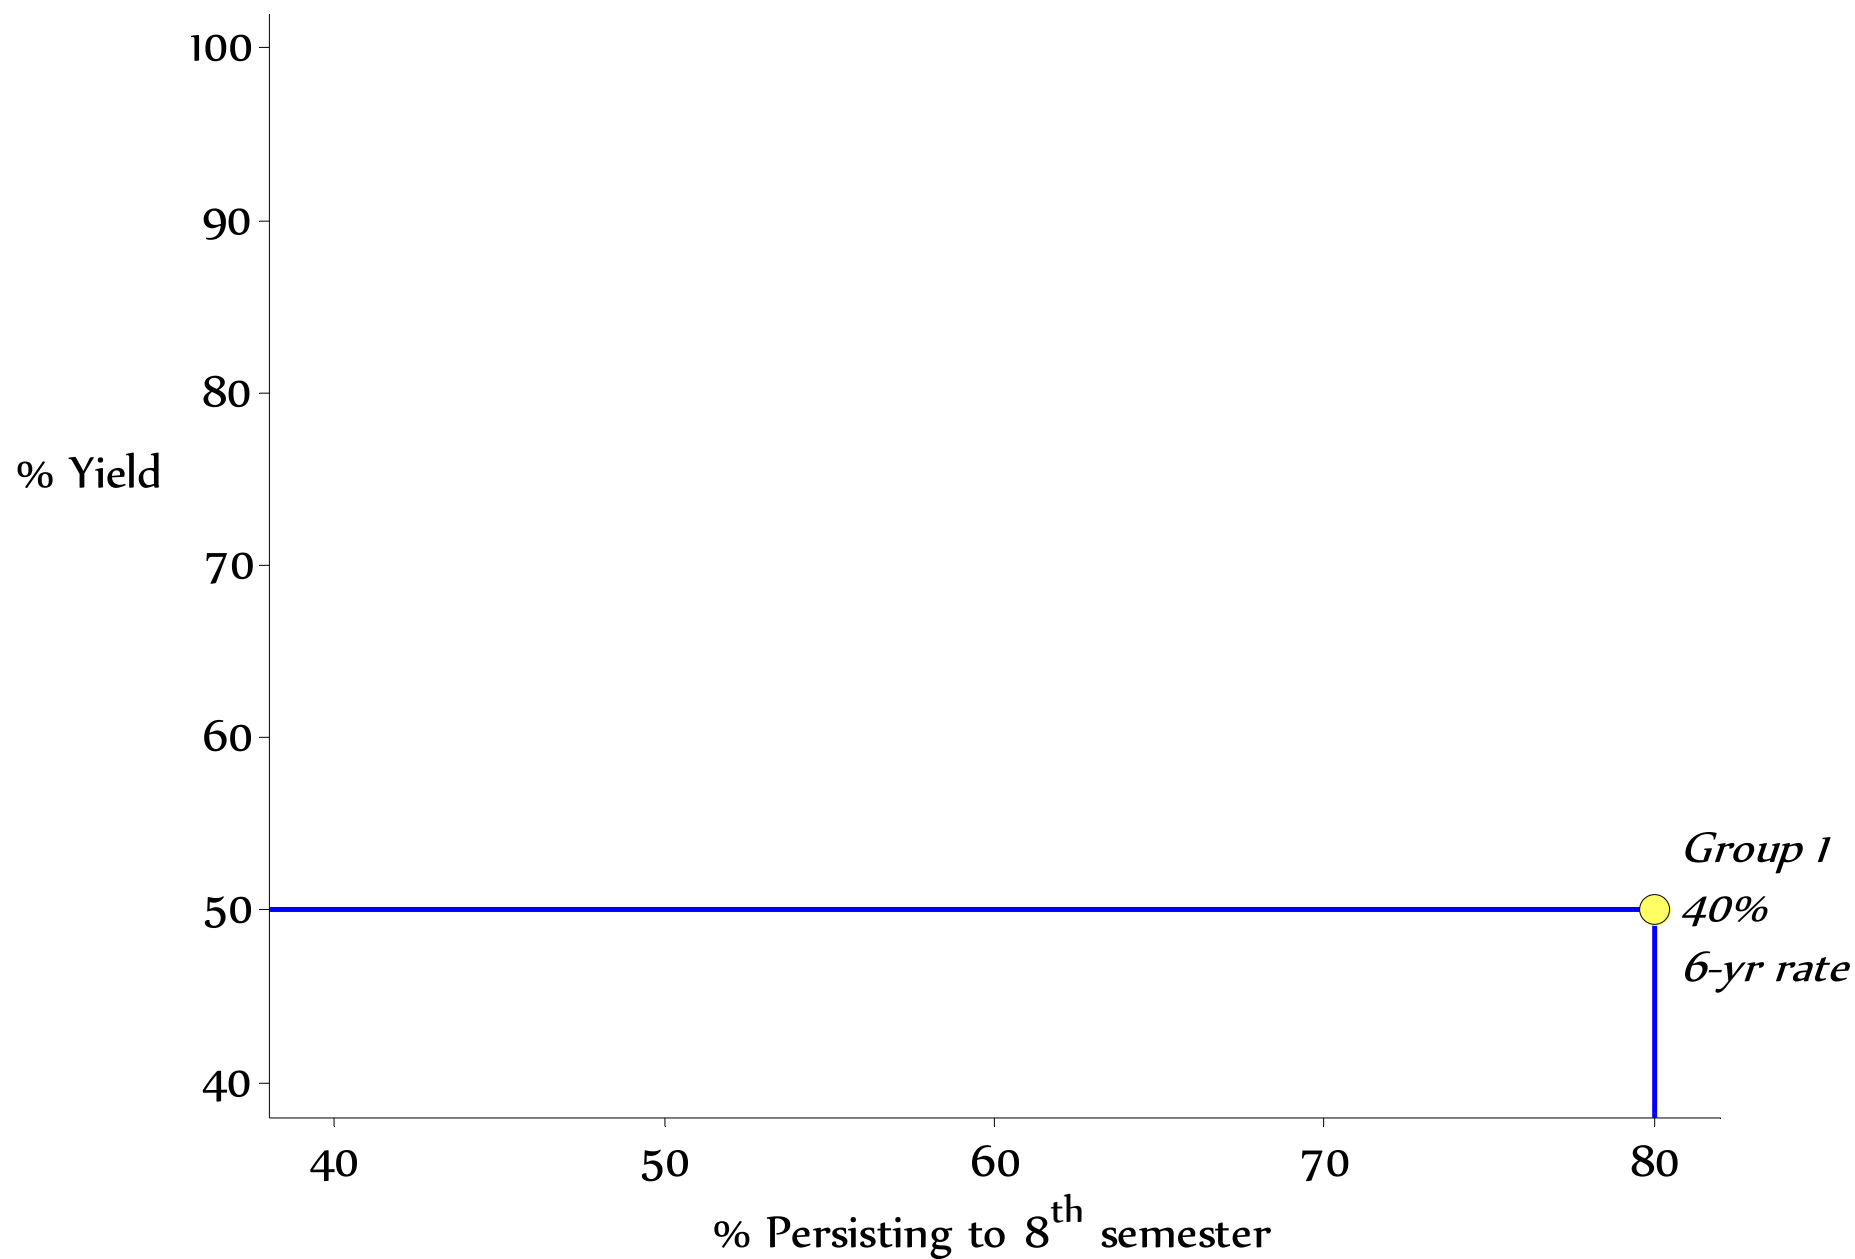

“Success” is a complex story.

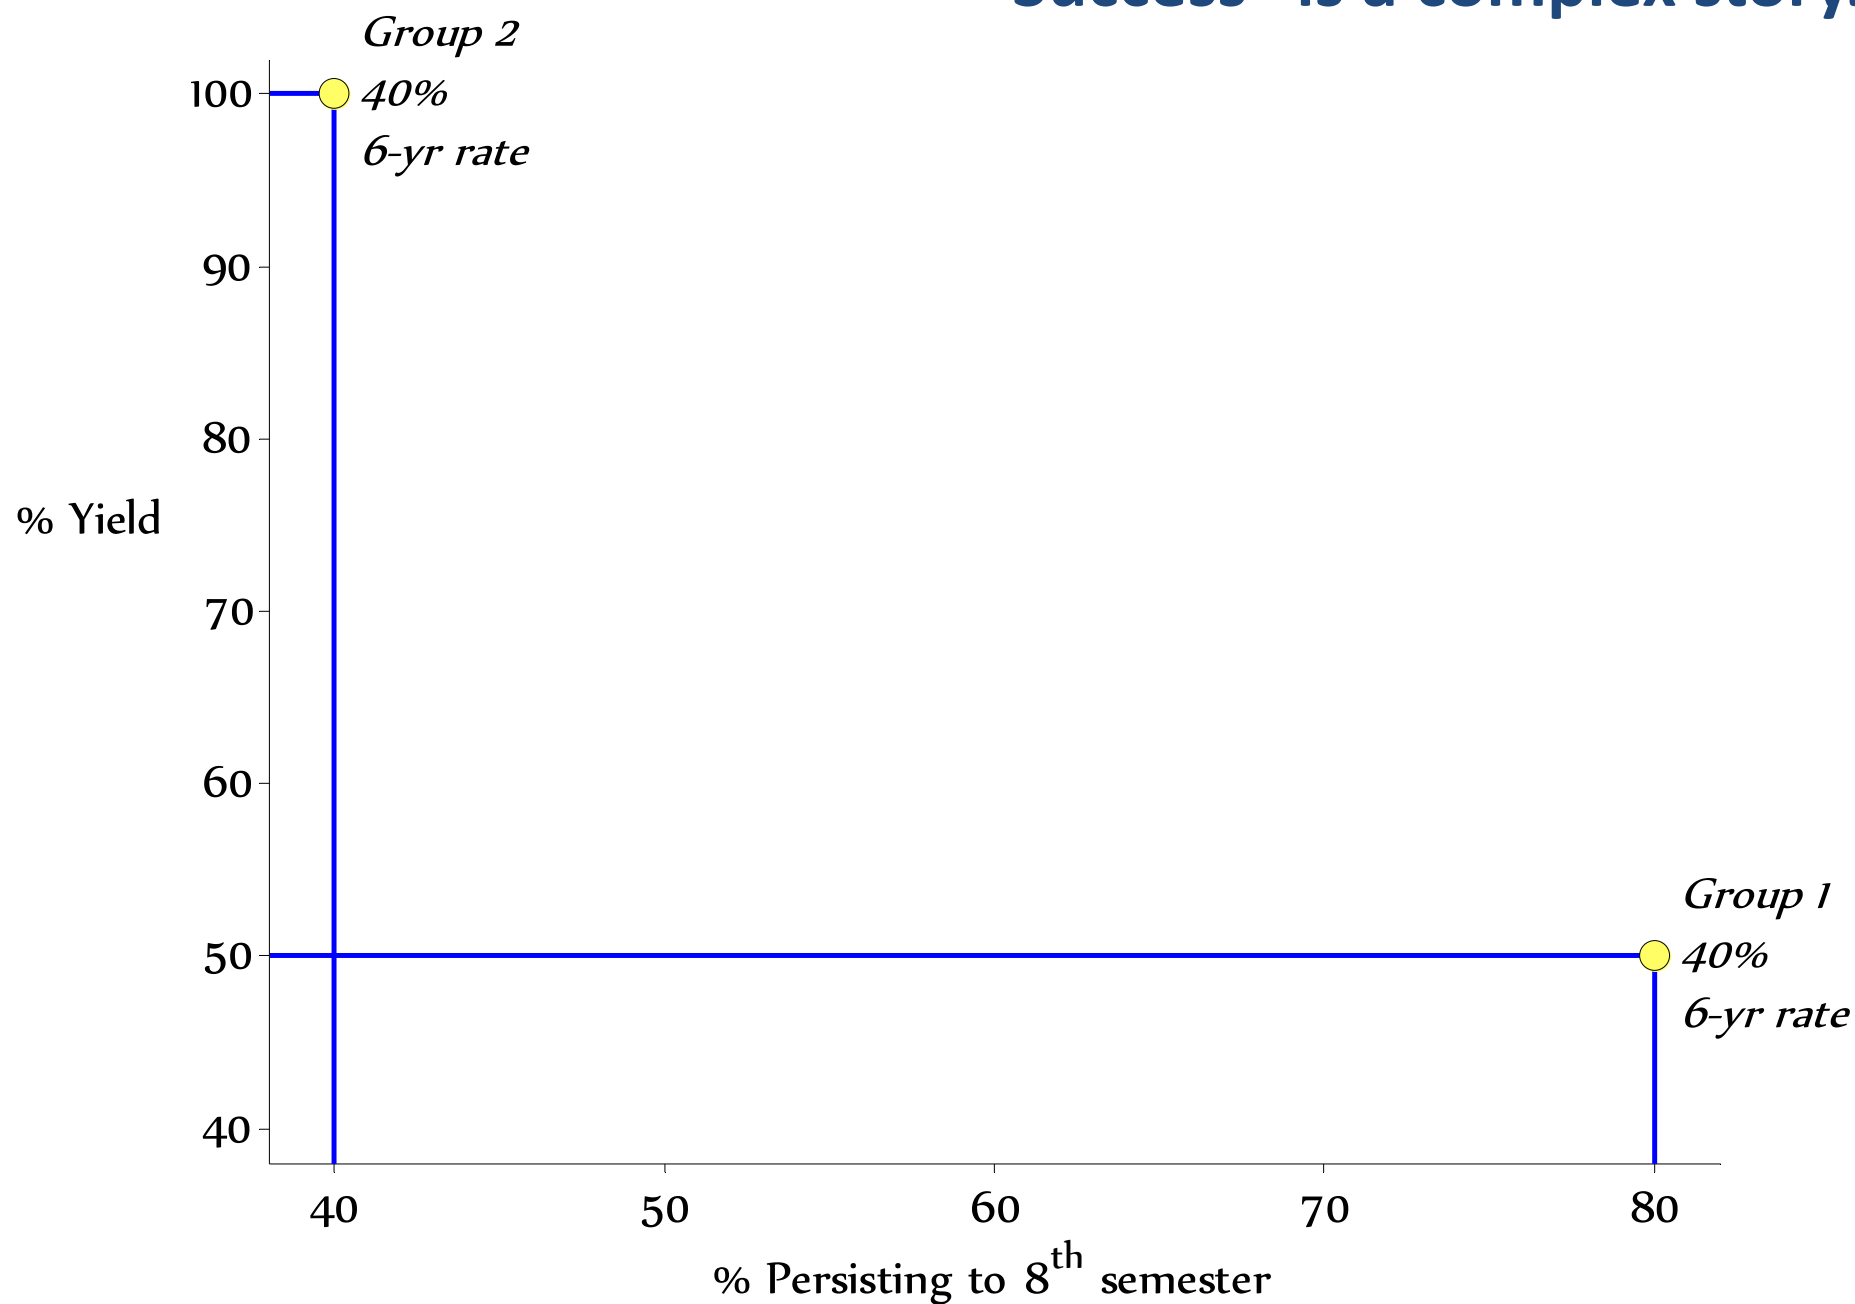

“Success” is a complex story.

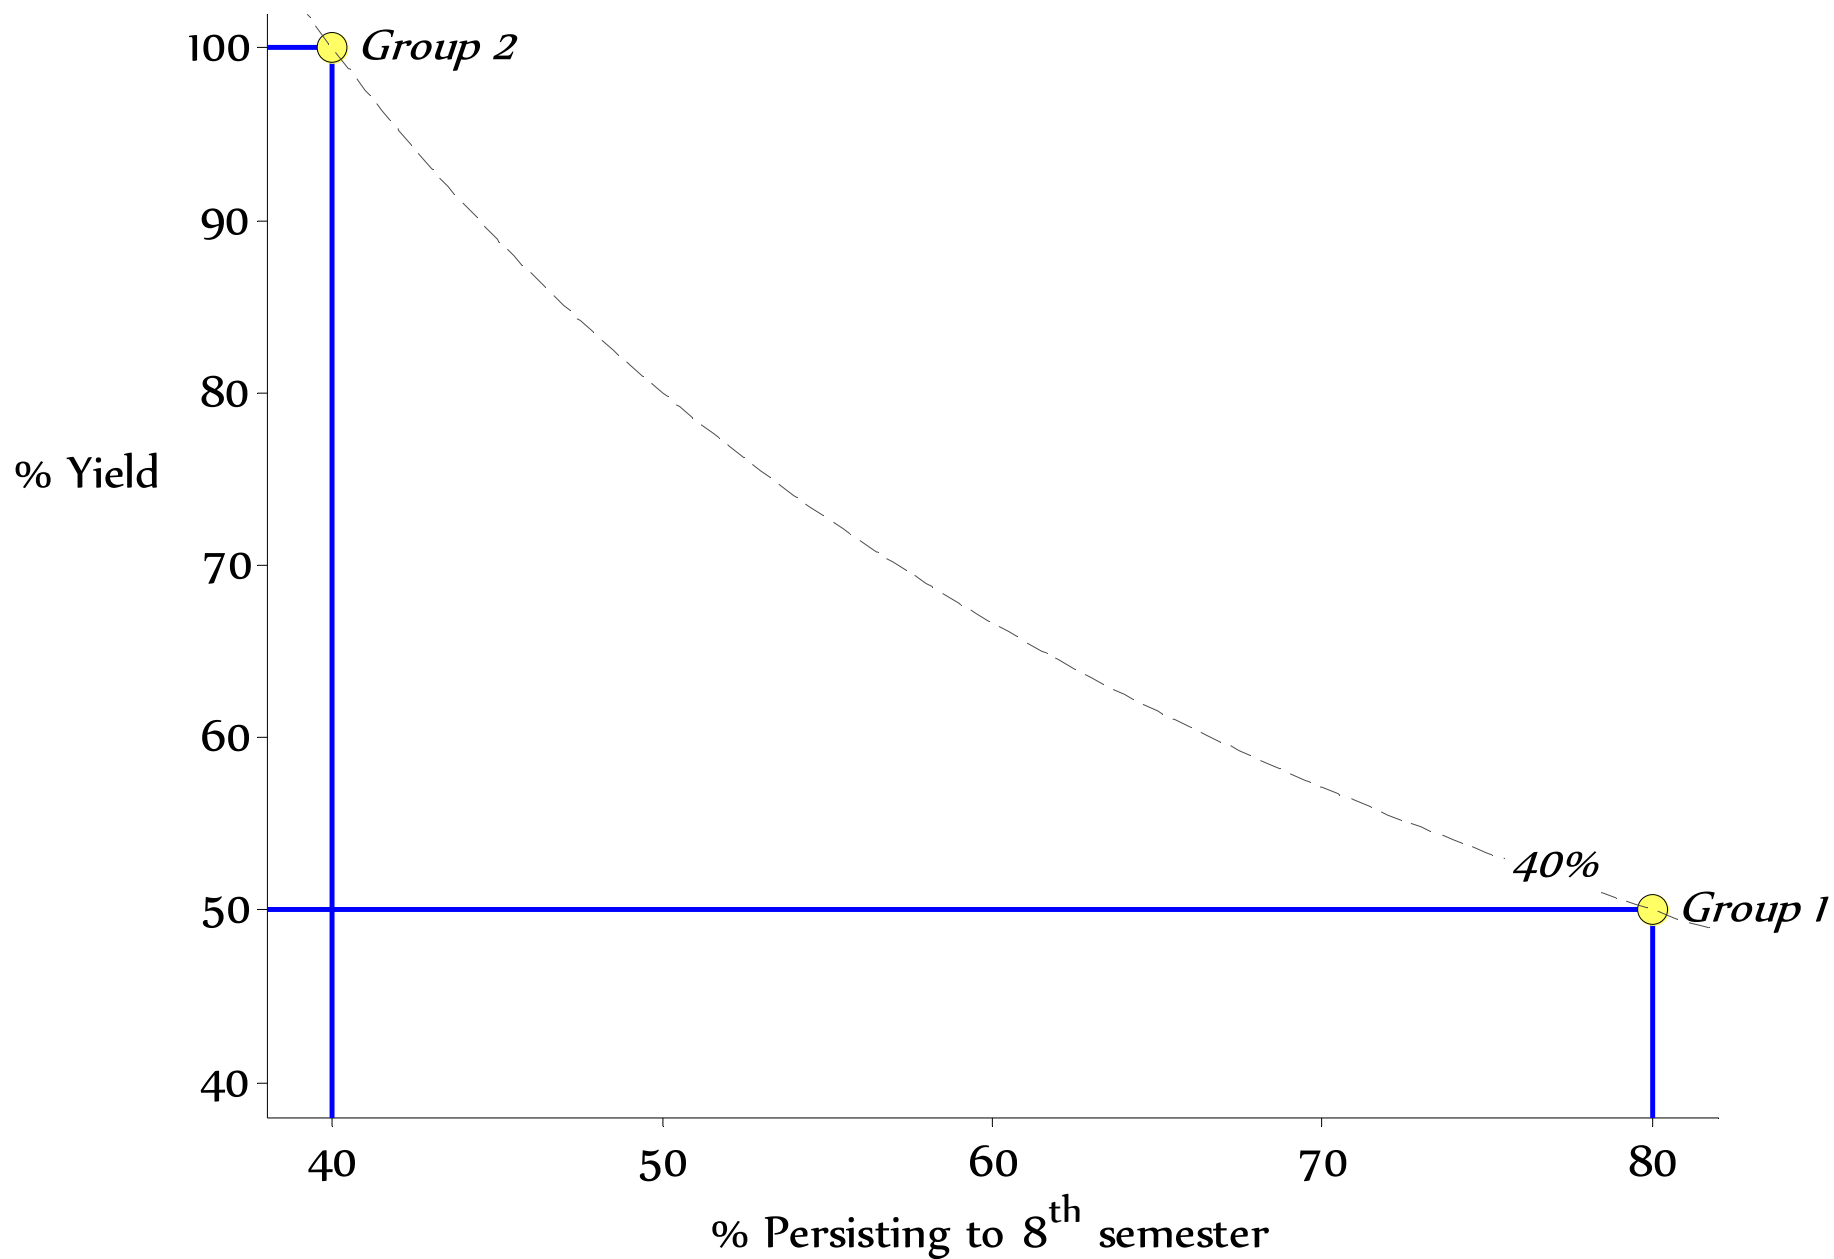

“Success” is a complex story.

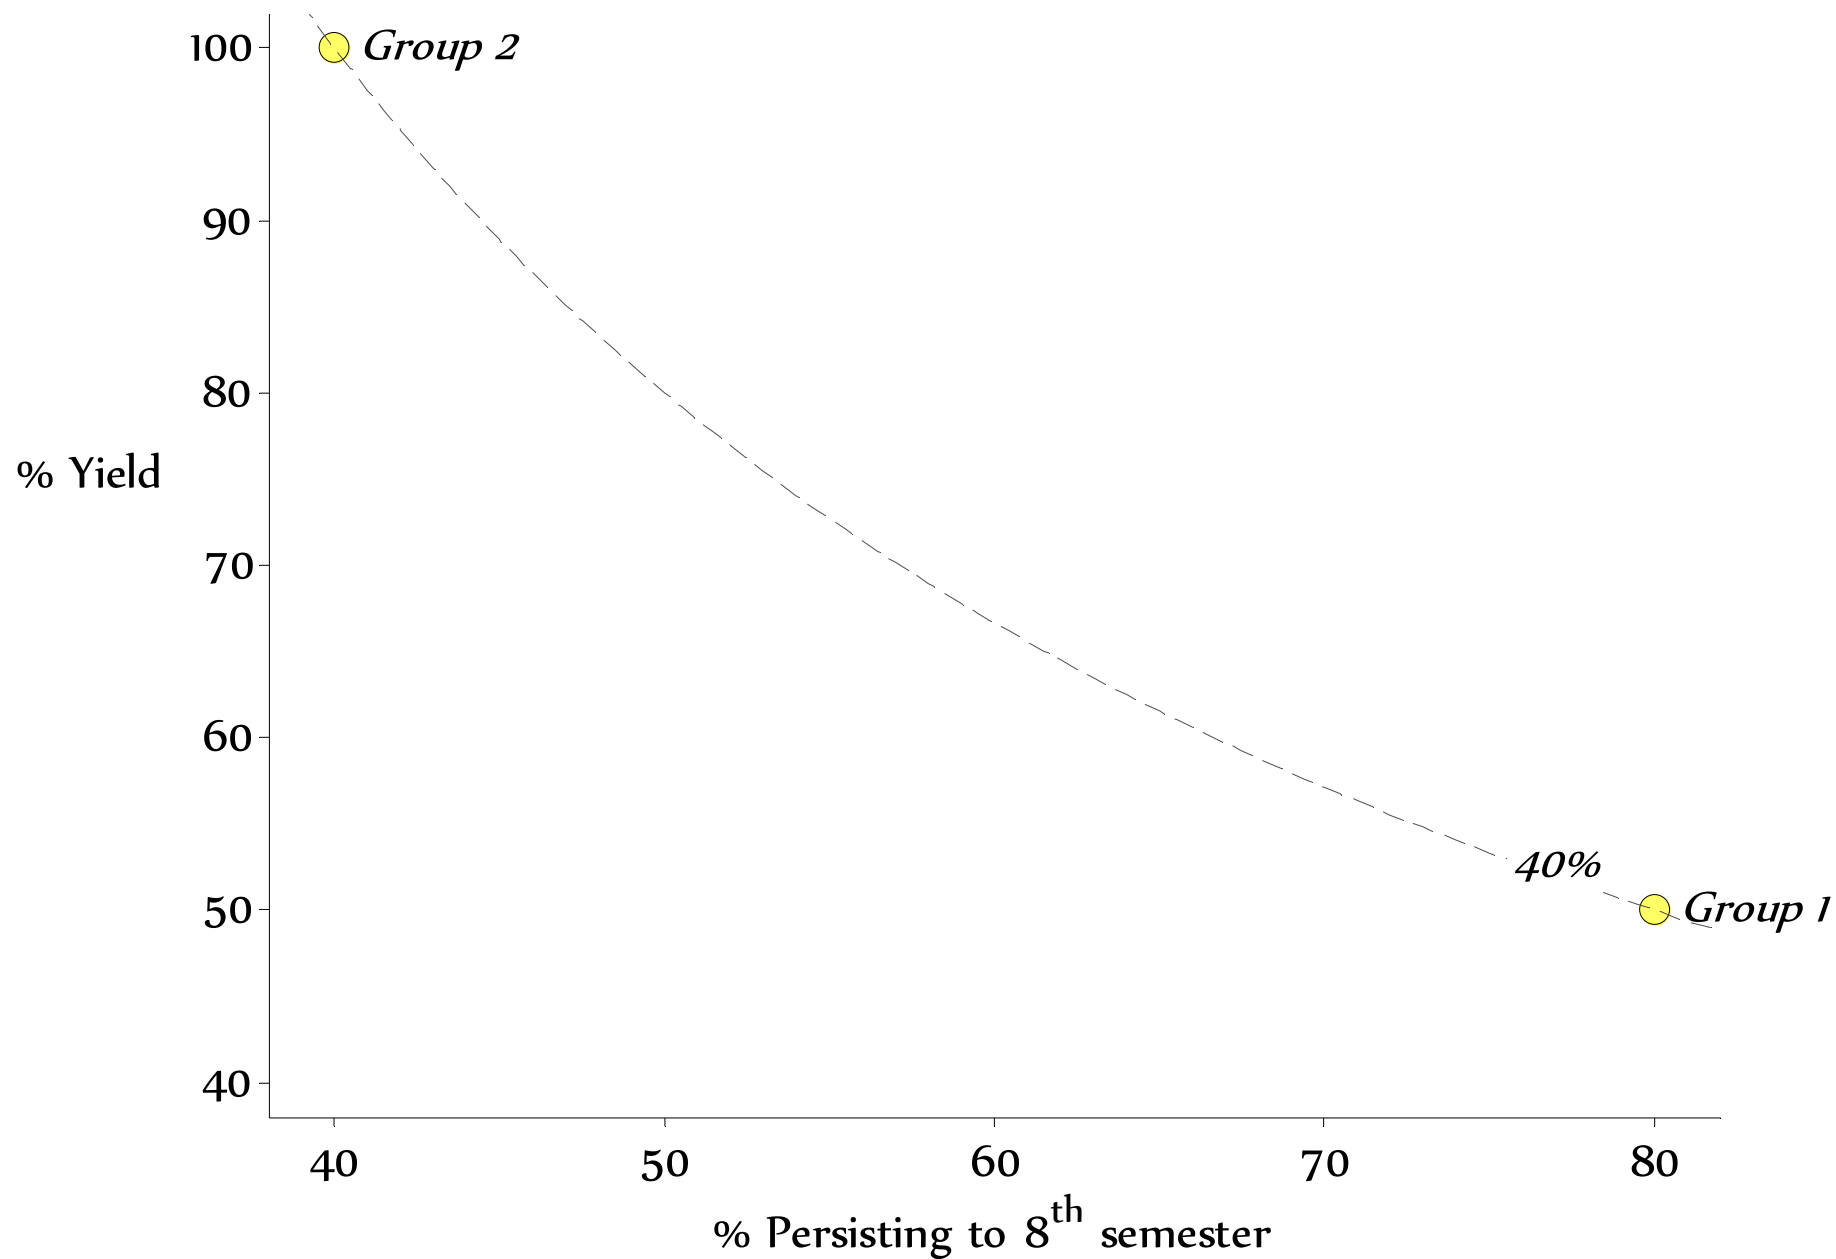

“Success” is a complex story.

“Success” is a complex story.

“Success” is a complex story.

"Success" is a complex story.

